Are you a Distracted Driver?

You've seen a woman on the phone drift across lanes. You've seen a man brushing his hair slam on his brakes. You've seen a teen texting and almost hit another car. You've probably been that woman, man, or teen, and you've probably experienced those close calls firsthand. But have you seen what happens when the distracted driver doesn't swerve in time or can't stop fast enough? 9 deaths per day occur in the United States because of distracted drivers and countless injuries and accidents are caused by drivers not minding the wheel. DMV.org is concerned about the distracted driving epidemic and the safety of all drivers. To promote safe driving and reduce the number of distracted drivers on our roads, we have launched a year-long distracted driving campaign.

One Distraction Can Steal Your Reaction

DMV.org's message to all drivers is simple: One distraction can steal your reaction.

Our message is a reminder that a few seconds of distraction can have disastrous results. You're 23 times more likely to crash if you text and drive, and 3 times more likely to crash if you're doing something else, like eating, drinking, or adjusting the stereo.

Pledge to Take Back Your Focus Today

We're starting our campaign by encouraging everyone to take our distracted driving pledge and join our #mindthewheel campaign.

By pledging, you promise your friends and family that you'll:

- Keep your eyes on the road.
- Keep your hands on the wheel.
- Keep your mind on driving.

The catastrophic consequences of distracted driving grow higher each year. Consider the following:

- 9 people die every day in the United States from driving distracted.
- 11% of car accidents leading to fatalities are related to distracted driving.
- When texting, your eyes are off the road for 5 seconds. That's the length of a football field when driving at 55 MPH.
- You are 3 times more likely to crash when performing a visual or manual activity—such as reaching for a phone or the radio.

So remember:

One Distraction Can Steal Your Reaction!
